Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-7, and 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yang et al (US 6,332,880). Yang discloses, figure 11, a catheter assembly a transeptal sheath (74); a pre-shaped guiding introducer (26) slidable within the transeptal sheath (74); a deflectable catheter (12) having proximal (14) and distal end (16) portions, wherein the deflectable catheter (12) is configured to be torquable and steerable (col. 11, lines 25-45); and a pullwire (32) integrated within the deflectable catheter (12) that is adapted to deflect at least a portion of the distal end (16) portion such that the deflectable catheter (12) may be advanced through the pre-shaped guiding introducer (26) whereby the pre-shaped guiding introducer (26) directs the catheter (12) towards the pulmonary vein and the catheter (12) is further directed into the pulmonary vein by manipulation of the proximal end portion (14).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yang et al (US 6,332,880) in view of Lesh (US 5,971,983). Yang discloses substantially all features of the claimed invention except the ablation element comprise a microwave ablation element. Lesh discloses an ablation element comprise a microwave ablation element (col. 9, lines 43-60). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize in Yang an ablation element comprise a microwave ablation element as taught by Lesh in order to provide the efficient energy to treat the injure or ablate tissue.

5. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yang et al (US 6,332,880) in view of Vaska et al (US 6,237,605). Yang discloses substantially all features of the claimed invention except the ablation element comprising a cryogenic ablation element. Vaska discloses an ablation element comprising a cryogenic ablation element (col. 3, lines 44-51). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize in Yang an ablation element comprising a cryogenic ablation element as taught by Vaska in order to form a continuous, uninterrupted lesion around or on the pulmonary veins.

Response to Amendment

6. Applicant's arguments filed 8/22/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue "Yang fails to disclose a pre-shaped guiding introducer" recited in REMARKS, page 6, lines 14-15. This is not true. Yang clearly discloses a pre-shaped guiding introducer (26, figure 11) and the argument of a pre-shaped wire is irrelevant.

Applicants also argue "neither sheath (26) or sheath (74) are pre-shaped ..." recited in REARKS page 7, line 7. The Examiner disagrees. The sheath (26) is a tubular shaped which is a pre-shaped tube and the argument on the sheath (74) is irrelevant because it did not support by the claim language.
